MORGANZA FUGITIVE CAUGHT IN CHARLEROI

David Nutting Arrested
After Two Months
Search

TELLS STORY OF ESCAPE

Says He Came to Charleroi
Then Went to West Virginia to Return Later

Just two months after his escape from the Industrial Training School at Morgantown, David Nutting, aged 20, of Charleroi was captured Monday afternoon while on a Pittsburgh car headed towards Pittsburgh. With him was arrested S. B. Pegg who is accused by Ralph Elliott, state parole officer with having hidden a fugitive from a penal institution. Nutting is to be taken to Pittsburgh by Parole Agent Elliott and may later be taken to Morgantown.

Nutting and Robert Smith of Carnegie escaped together. Then according to the story told by Nutting, they parted. Nutting says he ran all night of January 24, only to find himself the next morning not far from the school. Then he says he broke for Charleroi and landed here without being molested enroute. He spent two days here and then went to Dellsrow, W. Va., where he secured employment in a coal mine.

Traced to that place by parole Officer Elliott he left, returning about four weeks ago to Charleroi. Since that time he has lived a somewhat precarious life in the region back of Charleroi.

It is charged that part of the time Nutting was harbored by Peter Lynch at his home on Maple Creek, and part of the time by Pegg. He slept in out of way places at times. Both Pegg and Lynch were before Justice of the Peace Harry W. Scott of North Charleroi this morning. Pegg waived a hearing and Lynch plead guilty.

Nutting gave the impression that escaping from Morgantown was rather an easy matter. He complained somewhat of ill treatment and said that he hoped he would not be taken back there. However he was frank enough to say that the officer in charge of his division treated him all right. What made him first think of getting away he stated was the refusal of the officers to allow him the opportunity of playing with the band. That the food of Morgantown was meagre and unsatisfactory was one of his statements.

The capture of Nutting was made possible through the instrumentality of the local police, working with Parole Officer Elliott. The latter has been in Charleroi since the latter part of last week. Monday Police-man James Murphy went to North Charleroi and laid in wait there all afternoon, anticipating that Nutting would be driven from his hiding place and would go in that direction. Everything worked beautifully. Nutting and Pegg, it is stated appeared on the 5 o'clock car and capture was easy. Justice of the Peace Scott of North Charleroi was there to assist Murphy but there was practically no trouble in landing the fugitive.

Dogs Kill Many Sheep

Seventeen sheep belonging to Joseph Lytle of Monongahela were killed outright, and 25 were fatally injured by dogs on the Lytle farm in Forward township, Allegheny county Monday morning between 8 and 9 o'clock. The dogs after completing their bloody work escaped without being seen. It is supposed they came from some of the mining settlement in the neighborhood.

BOTTLE LIQUOR SECURED

Postoffice Authorities
Confiscate "Wet"
Goods

IS NOT TO BE MAILED

The first confiscation of a parcel post package at the Washington postoffice occurred one day last week when a quart of bonded liquor mailed at Braddock was opened and destroyed. The package containing the liquor arrived several days ago and the postoffice employees were at once convinced that it was one of those packages not permitted to be sent by parcel post.

The package was held up and Assistant Postmaster William Jones wrote to Washington City. In reply Mr. Jones was notified that if it was thought the liquor was mailed in ignorance of the law governing parcel post the package should be confiscated and the matter dropped. Prosecution was suggested if it were found the package had been sent knowingly in violation of the law. As it was evident that the liquor had been sent by an Italian woman at Braddock to a relative without any intention of violating the law, no prosecution will be made. Instead local postoffice officials opened the package, removed the bottle of bonded goods, broke the neck and carefully poured the contents into a drain.

"quit this life," said Nutting. "Honestly I wanted to learn some trade at Morgantown that would do me good. I didn't want to use a pick and shovel. I made up my mind to quit stealing if I could only get something by which I could make a living. That is one reason why I would rather be sent to the penitentiary than back to Morgantown, because there I would be in hopes of learning something of real value to me in future life."

Nutting was sent to Morgantown shooting his stepfather, John Dess-

MAY INVESTIGATE PENITENTIARY

Resolution Introduced in House to Probe Institution-- Many Abuses Charged

Harrisburg, March 25—Sensational charges are made in a resolution introduced in the house Monday night by George A. Baldwin of Beaver against the management of the Western Penitentiary.

The resolution charges financial defects and that unnatural crimes are committed by persons in the penitentiary. It also charges that following publication of a statement that all departments would be investigated the department of accounts in the penitentiary was hastily discontinued and records of purchases and disbursements were destroyed.

The speaker is authorized to name a commission of five members not more than two of the same party to investigate the condition and report not later than April 14.

SODALITY DANCE PLEASANT EVENT

The first post Lenten social event of Charleroi was the benefit dance under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Jerome's church, which was held in Night's auditorium Monday night. Invitations had been widely extended and these were responded to liberally from Pittsburgh, Donora, Monessen, Belle Vernon, Roscoe, Monongahela, Brownsville and other points. About 120 couples were present. Wheeler's orchestra furnished the music and the event, which opens the season after Lent, was considered most auspicious.

Decision Withheld.
Burgess George W. Risbeck has withheld until tonight his decision on the case of John Vitoich, or as he is better known John Sharkey, charged with having run down in an auto Mary Chacko, at the corner of Tenth street and McKean avenue on Sunday night. Testimony in the case was heard Monday evening.

Attack on Them at California

CAUGHT IN AMBUSH

Two brothers, miners of Ellsworth, were stabbed perhaps fatally near California Sunday night. William Kuzeman, aged 25, and John Kuzeman aged 30, were walking from California to Ellsworth when they were ambushed by three men, who demanded money from them. The brothers attempted to get away and each was stabbed in the left side. William Kuzeman has two wounds and the blade of the stiletto penetrated his kidneys. John Kuzeman was stabbed once and the blade tore a hole in his left lung. The wounded men after being attended were taken to Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh Monday. Three foreigners were arrested in connection with the stabbing and lodged in the California lockup.

APPRAISEMENT MADE OF MCGOWAN PROPERTY

In the estate of A. F. McGowan late of North Charleroi an inventory and appraisement of the personal property has been filed. It totals $66,072.35. This includes ten shares of Bank of Charleroi stock at $150 a share and $15,473.35 in the bank.

Upper Body of Legislature Said to be Unfavorable

LABOR BILLS UP TODAY

Workmen's Compensation
and Child Labor Legislation Scheduled

Harrisburg, March 25—A canvass of the state senate reveals the fact that a majority of the members of the upper body of the Legislature are now opposed to the idea of calling a convention to adopt a new Constitution for Pennsylvania and that unless there should be a decided and unexpected change of intentions the bills for a constitutional convention, which have passed the house will be allowed to die in committee or be killed on the floor of the senate.

There is expected to be some action in the senate this week on reform legislation from the house. Assurance has been given that the woman suffrage resolution will be reported favorably from the judiciary general committee, today, and on the same day the elections committee is to give a hearing on the seven election law revisions already passed by the house, including the uniform primary bill, the watchers' bill and the resolution to ratify the amendment to the Federal constitution for direct election of United States senators.

The workmen's compensation bill is scheduled for final passage in the house, having been made a special order for today. The bills regulating labor of women and children are expected to be called up for second reading in the house tonight when there will be a fight over various amendments.

Governor Tener is expected to veto the bill creating five new judges in Philadelphia. The measure is said to be unconstitutional. Disposal of this is likely to give impetus to the bill establishing an intermediate court in Philadelphia, which is to have a committee hearing in the senate this afternoon.

The compromise Public Utilities bill containing provisions accepted by both the administration and the independents and not seriously opposed by the majority of the big corporate interests, will be whipped into shape during the week and may be reported out of the judiciary general committee of the House.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

It is stated that Minnesota is preparing to "go the farm credit plan in Europe one better" by loaning the money to the farmers itself. The advocates of the plan hold that it is the duty of the state to help settlers to build up farms and homes, without subjecting them to the hardships they have hitherto had to undergo; that the state will thus make a good investment with a fair return, and will at the same time, build up its own wealth and prosperity.

This is simply another case of history repeating itself. What Minn-sota people are considering now in all seriousness was one of the "crazy ideas" of the old Greenbacker movement back in the seventies. The idea was advanced by Peter Cooper, the New York philanthropist, who advocated that the government loan for a long period to every farmer or man who wanted to farm, one thousand dollars with which to buy stock, seed and implements. That was the period when the western farmer was having hard sledding and his only recourse was to mortgage his farm at exorbitant rates of interest.

At that time the farm loan idea was ridiculed as a vagary. Today it is being advanced as a progressive movement. In our own state we have progressive ideas before the legislature which forty years ago would have been considered too revolutionary for even consideration. The plan of the state and nation helping individuals is becoming popular and the idea is prevalent that it is as much a function of government to help people to live as to build battleships and adopt the latest styles of weapons to assist them to shuffle off the mortal coil.

NOT ENOUGH PUBLICITY.

The various movements to investigate our state prisons and reform institutions as well as the hospitals receiving state aid may or may not be necessary, but it is certain at all times that too much privacy hedges around these institutions. It is a well known fact that publicity is the best remedy for public abuses and irregularities and if any of these exist the public has a right to know about them.

What is most essential is that public committees or delegations have the right of access at all times to the various public institutions, both penal and charitable. The matter of the public being denied access except under certain conditions at certain times, is an abuse in itself. Our county jails, homes and hospitals should be subject at all times to the surveillance of the public and under those conditions there would be less opportunity for irregularity. Notwithstanding the grand jury of Washington county paid regular visits to the children's home of Washington county at stated intervals when they were expected, grave abuses and mismanagement was brought to light there under the previous management.

The people have a right to insist upon publicity and the light of day being shed upon the conduct of our penal and charitable institutions. When this is done there will be less opportunity for irregularities. Keeping the management of these institutions secret always gives rise to suspicion.

RAZORS IN CHINA.

They Cost Little, but They Are Made
From Old Iron Horseshoes.

An interesting feature of Chinese industry is the making of knives and razors from old horseshoes. The local blacksmiths in the interior cities and towns supply the great population of the empire with knives, razors and scissors of an inferior quality at a very small cost. This cutlery comes from small shops, where only one or two men are employed. Usually the proprietor and his sons, and is chiefly made from old horseshoes imported from England and the continent. A discarded steel shoe offers the best material for blades, but the blacksmiths prefer the old shoes of soft iron that come from Glasgow and Hamburg.

One British firm at Tientsin brought over a cargo of old horseshoes from Australia recently, but could not dispose of them, as the native smiths said that the iron was too hard. They like the soft iron because it can be more easily worked by their primitive methods.

A razor commonly used by the poorer class, having a cutting edge of less than two inches, costs 20 tung tuns, about 5 cents in American currency.
Upon the strip the blade takes a fair cutting edge, but is too soft to hold it.
Any number of stroppings are necessary before the act of shaving can be completed. After the blades are forged they are simply case hardened and not subjected to the careful tempering employed in the production of western cutlery.—Youth's Companion.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Why is it," asked a patron of the proprietor of a moving picture house in town, "that in all the civil war scenes the southern forces invariably win the battle?"

"Well, now, that's so, since you come to speak of it," was the reply.
"I never thought of that before, but it is as you say. The only reason that I can account for it is that the films are designed for use throughout the south as well as the north and that on account of the old sectional feeling that still prevails it would not do to rub in their defeat in moving picture stories. I imagine in the moving picture, people learned that early in the game, and that when pictures showing northern victories were boycotted in the south they changed the final ending, and made the south always come out the winner."

"In the north, you know, it makes no difference, as every good northerner feels that even if the picture he has just witnessed shows his side a loser, it was the ultimate winner, and that the loss of a little moving picture skirmish makes no material difference. In the south, however, public sentiment must be catered to,
and the temper of the people there will not admit of any public reference to their defeat even in fiction."

"Say, madam," complained a man in a crowded Pittsburgh-Charleroi car that was leaving the city for its southbound trip the other evening, to a woman who was hanging onto the strap next to him, "the pin of your hat is sticking out so far that I'm afraid it will jab me in the eye when I'm not looking. Can't you do something?"

"Do it yourself," replied the woman. "Just tear off a piece of your paper, wad it up and stick it onto the point of the pin. You have my permission."

"Bicycles out of date?" repeated a traveling auto tireman in answer to a question put to him in Charleroi the other day. "Not on your life. It may be interesting to know that one tire manufacturer I know of has a contract this year to furnish 750,000 bicycle tires, all this year's make. That is enough for 375,000 machines. And there are many other concerns also making tires. If they couldn't sell these tires they wouldn't make them.
"I have been told by dealers along my route that the year 1913 will see more bicycles manufactured and sold than in any one year in the history of the country."

IT'S A MISTAKE

Made By Many Charleroi Residents

Many people in a misguided effort to get rid of kidney backache, rely on plasters, linaments and other makeshifts. The right treatment is kidney treatment and a remarkably recommended kidney medicine is Doan's Kidney Pills. Charleroi is no exception.

The proof is at your very door. The following is an experience typical of the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Charleroi.

Mrs. Robert Coulter, 207 Prospect Ave., Charleroi, Pa., says: "Some years ago my son had the measles and on recovering, I noticed that his kidneys were very weak. He had no control over the kidney secretions and this was especially annoying at night. I had often seen Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised in the local papers and was finally induced to get a supply at Piper Bros' Drug Store. I had my son use them and before long he was greatly benefited."

Treatment That Relieves Colds Over Night--Croup
in Fifteen Minutes

Vicks Croup and Pneumonia Salve the new treatment recently introduced here from North Carolina, relieves croup and cold troubles by external application. There is no need to dose the stomach with injurious medicines.

Its use is especially recommended to mothers with small children, as Vicks can be used freely and often without disturbing the delicate systems of the little folks. Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a little Vicks applied at the first sign of trouble will insure the children against croup and pneumonia and keep them free from head and chest colds, sore throat, etc. Vicks is absolutely harmless—formula on every wrapper.

For all inflammations of the air passages, bronchitis, tonsillitis, catarrh, hoarseness, difficult breathing, etc., this new treatment will be found remarkably effective.

Applied externally over the throat and chest, the heat of the body releases soothing, antiseptic vapors, that are inhaled with each breath.
At the same time Vicks is absorbed through the skin, taking out the sore-ness and tightness. In very severe cases the pores of the skin are first opened by application of hot wet towels. Then Vicks is rubbed in well and covered with a warm flannel cloth. The covering around the neck is kept loose so that the vapor arising may be freely inhaled.

Mrs. Hilbert Tells of Her Distressing Symptoms During Change of Life and How She Found Relief.

Fleetwood, Pa.—“During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flashes of heat were so bad sometimes that I did not know what to do.

“One day a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was very thankful that I followed my friend's advice and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sickly and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. You may publish my letter.”—Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a regular meeting of Charleroi Circle 303, P. H. C., Friday, March 21, the following resolutions of respect were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Divine Ruler of the Universe to remove from our midst our Brother, Charles D. Strausser;

Resolved, That our charter be draped for 30 days in honor of his memory, resolutions of respect drafted, a copy of the same to be spread upon our minutes, a copy to be sent to the bereaved family and printed in daily papers.

While we humbly submit to the Divine Power in removing from our midst our Brother Chas. D. Strausser, we, as well as his immediate friends, feel the deep loss. His accustomed place in this Circle is now vacant, the tongue has lost its power of speech, the lips are closed in the cold embrace of Death. His form and face are now forever hidden from our vision. No more will we see him in our midst, but his goodness of heart, many virtues and acts of charity are engraved upon our hearts and memories. The Immortal Ruler of the Universe has called him from his place in this Circle chamber to a more exalted one in the Heavenly Circle above.

Eccentric John Underwood. John Underwood who died at Whitehouse, England, in 1733 left some odd instructions for his burial. His fortune of £6,000 went to his sister, provided that no bell was tolled at his grave, no relative followed his coffin and various other arrangements were carried out. Six men only were invited and requested not to come in “black” who received 10 guineas each for their services. Service over, an arch was raised over the green painted coffin, with “Non Omnis Moriar, 1733.” inscribed on white marble. The six men sang the last stanza of the twentieth ode of the second book of Horace. The deceased, who had been coffin fully dressed, had under his head “Sanadown's “Horace,” at his feet Bentley's “Milton,” in his right hand a Greek Testament and in his left hand a small “Horace.” The six on repairing to his house to a cold repast had to sing the thirty-first ode and drink a cheerful glass before retiring at 8 p. m. This done, directed the will. “Think no more of John Underwood.”

Books in Ancient Rome.

It has been pointed out that in old Rome books were actually produced and sold more easily and quickly than they are in modern times. With his trained staff of readers and transcribers, it is contended, an ancient Roman publisher could turn out an edition of any work at very cheap rates and almost a moment's notice. There was, of course, no initial expense of typesetting before a single copy could be produced, no costly extras in the form of printer's corrections. The manuscript came from the author; the publisher handed it to his slaves, and if the book were of ordinary dimensions the complete edition could, it is said, be ready if necessary within twenty-four hours. The old Roman libraries were immense as well as splendid. Plutarch says that the library of Lucullus, who expended much of his money on books, “had walks, galleries and cabinets open to all visitors.” It was proposed by Julius Caesar to open this library to the public.—Harper's.

A poet's homely face.

The poet Rogers was afflicted with a notably unpleasant, cadaverous countenance, which, with all his intellectual power, was a mortification to him. To hide his true face he joked about his ugliness incessantly and deceived his friends into supposing him indifferent to it. He once turned to Sydney Smith, who, with Byron and Moore, was dining with him, and said: “Chantrelle wants to perpetuate this miserable face of mine. What pose would you suggest that I should take?” “If you really wish to spare the world as much as possible,” said the wit, “I would, if I were you, be taken at my papers, my face buried in my hands.”

Rogers laughed with the other persons present, but he shot a malignant glance at the jester and, it is said, never fully forgave him for the bonnet.

A Primitive Partnership.

There are three partners in a boat in a Yorkshire fishing village who will not accept a check because the bank is too far away. They have two miles to walk to get their money orders cashed. Only one of the three is able to read and write, and he draws the money, and then the three sit at a table and divide it.

“One for yow,” says the leader, and places a sovereign in front of one partner. “One for thee”—and another sovereign is put in front of the other partner. “And one for me”—and he places another at his own corner.

And so he goes on. “One for yow, one for thee, and one for me,” until the sovereigns are equally shared, then the silver and even the pence are divided in the same way.—London Mail.

David Nutting Arrested
After Two Months
Search

Says He Came to Charleroi
Then Went to West Virginia to Return Later

Just two months after his escape from the Industrial Training School at Morganza, David Nutting, aged 20, of Charleroi was captured Monday afternoon while on a Pittsburgh car headed towards Pittsburg. With him was arrested S. B. Pegg who is accused by Ralph Elliott, state parole officer with having hidden a fugitive from a penal institution. Nutting is to be taken to Pittsburg by Parole Agent Elliott and may later be taken to Morganza.

Nutting and Robert Smith of Carnegie escaped together. Then according to the story told by Nutting they parted. Nutting says he ran all night of January 24, only to find himself the next morning not far from the school. Then he says he broke for Charleroi and landed here without being molested enroute. He spent two days here and then went to Dellsrow, W. Va., where he secured employment in a coal mine.

Traced to that place by parole Officer Elliott he left, returning about four weeks ago to Charleroi. Since that time he has lived a somewhat precarious life in the region back of Charleroi.

It is charged that part of the time Nutting was harbored by Peter Lynch at his home on Maple Creek, and part of the time by Pegg. He slept in out of way places at times. Both Pegg and Lynch were before Justice of the Peace Harry W. Scott of North Charleroi this morning. Pegg waived a hearing and Lynch plead guilty.

Nutting gave the impression that escaping from Morganza was rather an easy matter. He complained somewhat of ill treatment and said that he hoped he would not be taken back there. However he was frank enough to say that the officer in charge of his division treated him all right. What made him first think of getting away he stated was the refusal of the officers to allow him the opportunity of playing with the band. That the food of Morganza was meagre and unsatisfactory was one of his statements.

The capture of Nutting was made possible through the instrumentality of the local police, working with Parole Officer Elliott. The latter has been in Charleroi since the latter part of last week. Monday Police-man James Murphy went to North Charleroi and laid in wait there all afternoon, anticipating that Nutting would be driven from his hiding place and would go in that direction. Everything worked beautifully. Nutting and Pegg, it is stated appeared on the 5 o'clock car and capture was easy. Justice of the Peace Scott of North Charleroi was there to assist Murphy but there was practically no trouble in landing the fugitive.

Seventeen sheep belonging to Joseph Lytle of Monongahela were killed outright, and 25 were fatally injured by dogs on the Lytle farm in Forward township, Allegheny county Monday morning between 8 and 9 o'clock. The dogs after completing their bloody work escaped without being seen. It is supposed they came from some of the mining settlements in the neighborhood.

Confiscate "Wet"

The first confiscation of a parcel post package at the Washington postoffice occurred one day last week when a quart of bonded liquor mailed at Braddock was opened and destroyed. The package containing the liquor arrived several days ago and the postoffice employees were at once convinced that it was one of those packages not permitted to be sent by parcel post.

The package was held up and Assistant Postmaster William Jones wrote to Washington City. In reply Mr. Jones was notified that if it was thought the liquor was mailed in ignorance of the law governing parcel post the package should be confiscated and the matter dropped. Prosecution was suggested if it were found the package had been sent knowingly in violation of the law. As it was evident that the liquor had been sent by a relative without any intention of violating the law, no prosecution will be made. Instead local postoffice officials opened the package, removed the bottle of bonded goods, broke the neck and carefully poured the contents into a drain.

"I quit this life," said Nutting. "Honestly I wanted to learn some trade at Morganza that would do me good. I didn't want to use a pick and shovel. I made up my mind to quit stealing if I could only get something by which I could make a living. That is one reason why I would rather be sent to the penitentiary than back to Morganza, because there I would be in hopes of learning something of real value to me in future life."

Nutting was sent to Morganza for shooting his stepfather, John Dess-

Harrisburg, March 25—Sensational charges are made in a resolution introduced in the house Monday night by George A. Baldwin of Beaver against the management of the Western Penitentiary.

It also charges that following publication of a statement that all departments would be investigated the department of accounts in the penitentiary was hastily discontinued and records of purchases and disbursements were destroyed.

The first post Lenten social event of Charleroi was the benefit dance under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Jerome's church, which was held in Might's auditorium Monday night. Invitations had been widely extended and these were responded to liberally from Pittsburg, Donora, Monessen, Belle Vernon, Roscoe, Monongahela, Brownsville and other points. About 120 couples were present. Wheeler's orchestra furnished the music and the event, which opens the season after Lent, was considered most auspicious.

Two brothers, miners of Ellsworth, were stabbed perhaps fatally near California Sunday night. The brothers attempted to get away and each was stabbed in the left side. William Kuzeman has two wounds and the blade of the stiletto penetrated his kidneys. John Kuzeman was stabbed once and the blade tore a hole in his left lung. The wounded men after being attended were taken to Mercy Hospital, Pittsburg Monday. LABOR BILLS UP TODAY

lation Scheduled

Harrisburg, March 25—A canvass of the state senate reveals the fact that a majority of the members of the upper body of the Legislature are now opposed to the idea of calling a convention to adopt a new Constitution for Pennsylvania and that unless there should be a decided and unexpected change of intentions the bills for a constitutional convention, which have passed the house will be allowed to die in committee or be killed on the floor of the senate.

There is expected to be some action in the senate this week on reform legislation from the house. Assurance has been given that the woman suffrage resolution will be reported favorably from the judiciary general committee, today, and on the same day the elections committee is to give a hearing on the seven election law revisions already passed by the house, including the uniform primary bill, the watchers' bill and the resolution to ratify the amendment to the Federal constitution for direct election of United States senators.

The workmen's compensation bill is scheduled for final passage in the house, having been made a special order for today. The bills regulating labor of women and children are expected to be called up for second reading in the house tonight when there will be a fight over various amendments.

Governor Tener is expected to veto the bill creating five new judges in Philadelphia. The measure is said to be unconstitutional. Disposal of this is likely to give impetus to the bill establishing an intermediate court in Philadelphia, which is to have a committee hearing in the senate this afternoon.

The compromise Public Utilities bill containing provisions accepted by both the administration and the independents and not seriously opposed by the majority of the big corporate interests, will be whipped in to shape during the week and may be reported out of the judiciary general committee of the House.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

It is stated that Minnesota is preparing to "go the farm credit plan in
money to the farmers itself. The advocates of the plan hold that it is
the duty of the state to help settlers to build up farms and homes,
without subjecting them to the hardships they have hitherto had to un-
a good investment with a fair return
its own wealth and prosperity.

This is simply another case of history repeating itself. What Minn-sota people are considering now in
all seriousness was one of the "crazy ideas" of the old Greenback movement back in the seventies. The idea was advanced by Peter Cooper,
the New York philanthropist, who
advocated that the government loan
having hard sledding and his only
at exorbitant rates of interest.

At that time the farm loan plan was ridiculed as a vaguery. Today it is being advanced as a progressive
progressive ideas before the legisla-
have been considered too revolutionary for even consideration. The plan
idea is prevalent that it is no much a function of government to help peo-
coil.

NOT ENOUGH PUBLICITY.

The various movements to investigate our state prisons and reform
receiving state aid may or may not
be necessary, but it is certain at all
best remedy for public abuses and

about them.

What is most essential is that pub-
the right of access at all times to the various public institutions, both penal
and charitable. The matter of the
times, is an abuse in itself. Our
county jails, homes and hospitals
should be subject at all times to the
those conditions there would be less opportunity for irregularity. Notwithstanding the grand jury of Washington county paid regular visits to the children's home of Washington county at stated intervals

The people have a right to insist
upon publicity and the light of day being shed upon the conduct of our penal and charitable institutions. When this is done there will be less opportunity for irregularities. Keeping
secret always gives rise to suspicion.

RAZORS IN CHINA.

They Cost Little, but They Are Made
From Old Iron Horseshoes.

An interesting feature of Chinese industry is the making of knives and razors from old horseshoes. The local blacksmiths in the interior cities and towns supply the great population of
scissors of an inferior quality at a very small cost. This entirely comes from small shops, where only one or
made from old horseshoes imported
material for blades, but the black
smiths prefer the old shoes of soft iron
that come from Glasgow and Hamburg.

over a cargo of old horseshoes from Australia recently, but could not dis-
pose of them, as the native smiths
like the soft iron because it can be more easily worked by their primitive
methods.

A razor commonly used by the poorer
class, having a cutting edge of less than two inches, costs 20 tung-tzus, about 9 cents in American currency.
Upon the strap the blade takes a fair cutting edge, but is too soft to hold it.
Any number of stroppings are necessary before the act of shaving can be completed. After the blades are forged
subjected to the careful tempering employed in the production of western
cutlery.—Youth's Companion.

"Why is it," asked a patron of the
proprietor of a moving picture house
in town, "that in all the civil war
scenes the southern forces invariably
win the battle?"

"Well, now, that's so, since you
come to speak of it," was the reply.
"I never thought of that before, but
not do to rub in their defeat in moving pictures stories. I imagine that the moving picture people learned that early in the game, and that when pictures showing northern victories
were boycotted in the south they
changed the final ending, and made
the south always come out the winner."

"In the north, you know, it makes no difference," replied the patron. "The erner feels that even if the picture has just witnessed shows his side a loser, it was the ultimate winner,
and that the loss of a little moving
picture skirmish makes no material
difference. In the south, however,
public sentiment must be catered to,
and the temper of the people that will not admit of any public refer-

"Say, madam," complained a man in a crowded Pittsburg-Charleroi car that was leaving the city for its
hat is sticking out so far that I'm afraid it will jab me in the eye when
thing?"

man. "Just tear off a piece of your
mission."

traveling auto, threatened in answer to a question put to him in Charleroi the
manufacturer I know of has a con-
cycle tires, all this year's make. That is enough for 750,000 machines. And
these tires they wouldn't make them."
"I have been told by dealers along
more bicycles manufactured and sold
than in any one year in the history of the country."

Made By Many Charleroi Residents

to get rid of kidney backache, rely on plasters, liniments and other makeshifts. The right treatment is
kidney treatment and a remarkably recommended kidney medicine is Doan's Kidney Pills. Charleroi is no exception.

following is an experience typical
of the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Charleroi.

Mrs. Robert Coulter, 207 Prospect Ave., Charleroi, Pa., says: "Some
years ago my son had the measles
and on recovering, I noticed that
his kidneys were very weak. He had
and this was especially annoying at night. I had often seen Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised in the local papers and was finally induced to get a supply at Piper Bros. Drug Store. I had my son use them and before long he was greatly benefited."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, States.

Treatment That Relieves Colds Over Night—Croup

Vicks Croup and Pneumonia Salve
the new treatment recently introduced here from North Carolina, relieves
the stomach with injurious medicines.
Its use is especially recommended
to mothers with small children as Vicks can be used freely and often without disturbing the delicate stomachs of the little folks. Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a little Vicks applied at the first sign of
against croup and pneumonia and
colds, sore throat, etc. Vicks is ab-
wrapper.

For all inflammations of the air
passages, bronchitis, tonsillitis, catarrh,

markably effective.

Applied externally over the throat
leases soothing, antiseptic vapors,
that are inhaled with each breath.
At the same time Vicks is absorbed
through the skin, taking out the sore-ness and tightness. In very severe cases the pores of the skin are first opened by applications of hot wet towels. Then Vicks is rubbed in well

and covered with a warm flannel
cloth. The covering around the neck
may be freely inhaled.

No one understands the value of an "external" treatment better than

From Editors Now Number 1,002.

More than 4,000 persons attended the meeting in the tabernacle in Canonsburg Sunday night when the Rev. Dr. M. H. Lyon spoke on “Not Far From the Kingdom,” the largest audience that yet has attended a meeting. At least 3,000 men attended the meeting in the afternoon. On Sunday 156 persons hit the trail, 41 others did it Saturday and altogether 1,602 have walked down the aisles of the tabernacle to clasp the hand of the evangelist.

Battled Desperately With Rats.

With rats nibbling at his feet while others were chasing up and down his trouser legs and others going on through and out his coat sleeves Frank McClain, a well known farmer of South Franklin township, found himself in a precarious situation one night last week when he jumped into a wheat garner with a club determined to exterminate about a hundred rats which were making way with his grain. Mrs. McClain who went to the assistance of her husband was compelled to retreat almost as soon as she reached the side of her husband. Mr. McClain fighting the rats off as best he could and squeezing those under his clothing to death managed to escape from the garner before he was bitten by the rodents.

Pastor Tenders Resignation.

Rev. H. L. Smith who has been pastor of the Lower Buffalo Presbyterian church at Independence since last September tendered his resignation to the congregation. He will preach his farewell sermon Sunday, March 30, the same day that the Rev. B. F. Heany will deliver his farewell sermon to the Avelia congregation.

The farms of Mrs. Edward Gardner, Robert McCready, Robert Irwin, Criss Brothers and Frances Macroe have been leased.

By getting your millinery from us you may wear just such a creation as seen on the avenues of Paris. The prevailing close-fitting shapes of this Spring include round-crown toques, rolled brim sailors, small short front models, Tricorn-shapes, boat shapes and many soft draped crown models. The dull golds, leathers, and wood brown shades, vivid greens, rich purples and brilliant blues have become as popular as the Oriental reds and new shades of rose. The trimmings are all simple—but jaunty—tailored bows, smart fancies and Bulgarian ornaments predominating.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so-called have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of white-green, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

W. F. Hennings' Druggist.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria." I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years. It will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

In fact, we are so sure of what D.D.D. will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find that it does the work.

Tuberculosis Medicine

It is folly to believe that Consumption differs from every other disease in not requiring the use of any medicine for its treatment. For a number of years an enormous mass of voluntary and thankful testimonials from persons who consider that they owe their lives to Eckman's Alternative, a medicine for Tuberculosis, has been accumulating. Surely plenty of time to demonstrate its lasting value. You can write to any of them. Here is one:

"Gentlemen: In the winter of 1903 I had an attack of Grippe, followed by Pneumonia and later by Consumption. I grew steadily worse. In the winter of 1904 I had cough, night sweats, fever and rapid emaciation of several months' duration. I had many hemorrhages, at one time three in three successive days. MRs. and eggs became so distasteful I could keep nothing down. Three physicians treated me. I was ordered to the mountains, but did not go. Eckman's Alternative was recommended by a friend. After taking a small quantity, I had the first quiet night's sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first. I gained strength and weight and appetite. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until eventually gone. I am perfectly well. Every family and friends."

(Sworn affidavit) ANNE F. LOUGHRAN, (Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Hilbert Tells of Her Distressing Symptoms During Change of Life and How She Found Relief.

Fleetwood, Pa.—"During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flashes of heat were so bad sometimes that I did not know what to do."

"One day a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me a strong well woman. I am very thankful that I followed my friend's advice and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sickly and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. You may publish my letter."—Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a regular meeting of Charleroi Circle 303, P. H. C., Friday, March 21, the following resolutions of respect were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Divine Ruler of the Universe to remove from our midst our Brother, Charles D. Strausser; Resolved, That our charter be draped for 30 days in honor of his memory, resolutions of respect drafted, a copy of the same to be spread upon our minutes, a copy to be sent to the bereaved family and printed in daily papers.

While we humbly submit to the Divine Power in removing from our midst our Brother Chas. D. Strausser, we, as well as his immediate friends, feel the deep loss. His accustomed place in this Circle is now vacant, the tongue has lost its power of speech, the lips are closed in the cold embrace of Death. His form and face are now forever hidden from our vision. No more will we see him in our midst, but his goodness of heart, many virtues and acts of charity are engraved upon our hearts and memories. The Immortal Ruler of the Universe has called him from his place in this Circle chamber to a more exalted one in the Heavenly Circle above.

Romala Anderson, Sarah K. Booth, C. B. Copeland, Committee on Resolutions. 206-tl

Eccentric John Underwood. John Underwood, who died at Whiteless, England, in 1733, left some odd instructions for his burial. His fortune of £6,000 went to his sister, provided that no bell was tolled at his grave, no relative followed his coffin and various other arrangements were carried out. Six men only were invited and requested not to come in "black," who received 10 guineas each for their services. Service over, an arch was raised over the green painted coffin, with "Non Omnis moriar. 1733." inscribed on white marble. The six men sang the last stanza of the twentieth ode of the second book of Horace. The deceased, who had been coffin fully dressed, had under his band "Sapadov's 'Horace.'" at his feet Bentley's "Milton." in his right hand a Greek Testament and in his left hand a small "Horace." The six on repaid to his house to a cold repeat had to sing the thirty-first ode and drink a cheerful glass before retiring at 8 p. m. This done, directed the will, "Think no more of John Underwood."

Books in Ancient Rome. It has been pointed out that in old Rome books were actually produced and sold more easily and quickly than they are in modern times. With his trained staff of readers and transcribers, it is contended, an ancient Roman publisher could turn out an edition of any work at very cheap rates and almost a moment's notice. There was, of course, no initial expense of typesetting before a single copy could be produced, no costly extras in the form of printer's corrections. The manuscript came from the author; the publisher handed it to his slaves, and if the book were of ordinary dimensions the complete edition could be ready if necessary within twenty-four hours. The old Roman libraries were immense as well as splendid. Plutarch says that the library of Lucullus, who expended much of his money on books, "had walks, galleries and cabinets open to all visitors." It was proposed by Julius Caesar to open the library to the public.—Harper's.

A Poet's Homely Face. The poet Keats was afflicted with a notably unpleasant, cadaverous countenance, which, with all his intellectual power, was a mortification to him. To hide his ugliness he joked about his ugliness incessantly and deceived his friends into supposing him indifferent to it. He once turned to Sydney Smith, who, with Byron and Moore, was dining with him, and said: "Chantrey wants to perpetuate this miserable face of mine. What pose would you suggest that I should take?" "If you really wish to spare the world as much as possible," said the wit, "I would, if I were you, be taken at my prayers, my face buried in my hands."

Rogers laughed with the other persons present, but he shot a malignant glance at the jester and, it is said, never fully forgave him for the bonnet.

A Primitive Partnership.

There are three partners in a boat in a Yorkshire fishing village who will not accept a check because the bank is too far away. They have two miles to walk to get their money orders cashed. Only one of the three is able to read and write, and he draws the money, and then the three sit at a table and divide it.

"One for you," says the leader, and places a sovereign in front of one partner. "One for thee"—and another sovereign is put in front of the other partner. "And one for me"—and he places another at his own corner.

And so he goes on, "One for you, one for thee, and one for me," until the sovereigns are equally shared, then the silver and even the pence are divided in the same way.—London Mail.
